

Are you ready to join the most important movement in Washington State?

It's time to hip education reform to the possibilities of new media. We need young, passionate, activists who are ready to get their hands dirty learning the ins and outs of education policy. Volunteered with a campaign before? Written an Op-Ed for the local newspaper? Involved in Student Government? League of Education Voters (LEV) is seeking Washington's new generation of political junkies.

LEV's Communications Intern will help facilitate the use of new media in our office. Primary responsibilities will include:

- Work with communications staff and other interns to promote LEV material via social networking sites
- Attend conferences, events, and fundraisers with LEV staff in order to help draft blog entries and mass e-mails to our constituents
- You will be responsible for managing our on-line events calendar
- Office responsibilities, such as answering phones and managing mailings

Position Requirements

- We need you to be an activist first, a communications specialist second. Education is our passion—it should be yours as well
- You must have excellent writing skills. Personality and humor through writing is essential
- Desired that you have worked with non-profits or on campaigns before
- Thorough knowledge of social networking sites
- Personal initiative. We need you to take ownership of your projects by creating a finished product that you are confident in. Don't be afraid to take risks.

Compensation/Credit

Applicant is responsible for arranging to receive credit through his/her school. This position is unpaid. Stipend will be available for transportation and lunch.

Hours

We need an intern to commit to working at the LEV office at 3 days a week, for at least 4 hours. We also require that you attend certain events on the weeknights and weekends. While we suggest these time constraints, we are flexible and willing to work with people depending on class schedules/ job commitments.

Application Process

Please submit a resume to Maggie Wilkens at Maggie@educationvoters.org

Please submit a writing sample anywhere from 1-3 pages with your resume.

About The League of Education Voters

The League of Education Voters (LEV) is a non-profit, grassroots, statewide network of advocates dedicated to making Washington's public schools the best in the nation. LEV champions success for students at all educational levels – from birth through K-12 and higher education. The organization has three branches (LEV Foundation, LEV, and LEV PAC) who work together by researching promising reforms, framing practical solutions, educating the public, and mobilizing the community in political action.
