Help us to organize the Next System Seattle Teach-In
The Harry Bridges Center for Labor Studies is collaborating with the Center for Communication and Civic Engagement for an event April 28th called the Next System Teach-In.

An Info Session will be held on February 11th for faculty, student groups, staff and community partners who are interested in getting involved.

When: February 11, 2016, 4.30 - 5:30 pm
Where: University of Washington, Communications Building, CMU 126

The Next System Project is an ambitious multi-year initiative aimed at thinking boldly about what is required to deal with the systemic challenges the United States faces. This includes a call to universities for a nationwide teach-in on providing a space that offers such.

The teach-in goals are:

- Increase collaboration among teachers, learners, and movements for system change.
- Start a conversation about moving beyond the current political stalemate to envisioning a new future for our community and the world.
- Dig deep and focus on generating ideas about the next system, and how to create change.

If you have questions, please call us or write. See you Thursday, February 11th.
