THREE POLITICAL SCIENCE UW STUDENTS GRACE THE HUSKY 100 FOR 2020!

Submitted by Stephen Dunne on May 5, 2020 - 1:52pm

Three UW Political Science students are on the Year 2020 Husky 100.

Congratulations to Misrak Tekeste, Kiran Singh and Dalton Owens!

Each year, the Husky 100 recognizes 100 UW undergraduate and graduate students from Bothell, Seattle and Tacoma in all areas of study who are making the most of their time at the UW. From a pool of more than 50,000 students from all three campuses, two Political Science majors from the Seattle campus were selected for the 2020 Husky 100.

My Husky journey emphasizes that it is never too late to finish what you have started and to overcome conditions that hindered your growth. As a woman and a first generation immigrant college student, my Husky Experience has allowed me to develop my leadership abilities. Inspired by my cross-cultural understanding, I envision working with causes that aim to create opportunities of hope and economic and educational capacity building for diverse communities of the globe.

Proudly offering an understanding of multidisciplinary leadership, I applaud the dedication to enhancing the ability to build connections to support experiences, and success in my learning. I am a collaborator in building, and lead with an inclusive community-building approach to all I do. I strive to establish meaningful dialogue surrounding the socioeconomic injustices of rights and equity in order to better serve those impacted the most by structural disadvantage.

Year awarded 2020

During my time at the University of Washington, I have pursued a holistic educational experience through a diverse curriculum and extracurricular activities. I have sought out opportunities to strengthen my leadership ability in hopes of making a change in the world when my time on this college campus has come to an end.
