Summary

Gary received his Ph.D. in political science from the University of Washington in 1973. His early work was with the U.S. Department of Education, where he served as an associate research analyst to assess the effectiveness of K-12 public education programs throughout the U.S. Gary then worked as an executive responsible for information technology services for a satellite company and subsequently for an energy company. Then, he, along with his son Stephen, established an investment management company, with offices in Los Angeles and Santa Fe; he includes this endeavor as the most fulfilling period of his diverse professional career. Gary retired in December 2016.
