UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON

Attend the Spring Quarter faculty panel on

Police, Prisons, & Protest

In the last two years, a nationwide protest movement has called attention to problems of police violence, mass incarceration, and racial disparities in the criminal justice system. The Political Science Department has assembled three faculty experts to share their insights and respond to your questions and comments.

Professor Megan Francis, Department of Political Science

Professor Michael McCann, Department of Political Science

Professor Becca Thorpe, Department of Political Science

When: Tuesday, April 19, from 430-6pm

Where: Odegaard Library, Room 220
