

CarbonWA Campaign Internship

Announcement from Carbon Washington

Carbon Washington (www.CarbonWA.org) is a non-partisan organization participating in grassroots democracy, and believes in fostering an environment that cultivates leadership, is empowering, and fun. Whether you are a member of our steering committee, staff, volunteer, or interested citizen, we are committed to making our organization friendly and encourage you to 'be your whole self'.

We are dedicated to bringing a revenue-neutral carbon tax to Washington State by placing an initiative on the 2016 ballot. Our proposal is modeled on British Columbia's successful tax swap. We believe it is the best way for Washington State to increase our energy security and fight climate change. Our plan would be the strongest price on carbon in the nation and we are the only group committed to going to the ballot in 2016.

Internship Responsibilities:

Intern and campaign staff manager will set up an individual work plan tailored to one's interests but all intern tasks include:

- Attending and participating in campaign staff meetings
- Training volunteers
- Leading outreach and signature gathering volunteer teams
- Presentations and outreach to community groups
- Various office tasks
- One major special project (media plans, business outreach, volunteer recruitment, etc.)
- Spend 10-20 hours per week on your internship

This internship is unpaid, however we can reimburse your expenses and will work hard to meet any requirements for class etc.

Please email your resume and a brief cover letter to Kyle Murphy- Kyle@carbonwa.org
