Argo Strategies is a Seattle-based Democratic and progressive political consulting firm that specializes in campaign strategy and messaging, direct mail and compliance reporting, as well as providing candidates with website design and hosting, and tools for fundraising. Argo also assists campaigns with the databases and other technological needs. Our clients include Democratic issues and campaigns at all levels of government in Washington state. For more information about the company, please visit <http://www.argo.us>.

We are currently seeking interns who are eager to learn about the processes in developing political campaigns. Interns will gain experience and in depth knowledge of campaign financing, laws and procedures. Tasks consist of administrative duties, data entry, and opposition research. Applicants must be dependable, able to learn quickly and be very detail oriented.

While it is not necessary to be a political science major, we encourage those with interest in the political field to apply. We are a Democratic office and work only with Democratic candidates and organizations. We are seeking interns with similar political views. In your cover letter, please detail your interest in working on campaigns specifically or politics generally.

The internship is paid. We pay $15/hour for shorter commitments and $20 an hour for longer commitments (and candidates are possibly eligible for academic credit depending on your particular college). Interns are accepted on a rolling basis throughout the year. The internship is ideally a commitment of 15-20 hours per week but shorter time commitments are certainly considered. The hours are flexible and can be suited around your school or work schedule.
